Noda Leads in Individual Batting by Walk-Away Margin, and Hitting of Three Asahi Players Puts Team in Second Place. Portuguese Have Cleanest Fielding Record, While Stars Hit the Ball Hardest as a Team

Final averages for the second half of the Oahu Senior League series just compiled by scorer "Bill" Raposo, show up some interesting points of local baseball.

To begin with, the popular belief is that the Asahi team, while good fielders, were poor hitters both as a club and as individuals. If this is the rule, then the exception is right at the top of the list, for that is the position in individual batting that Noda, the slugging first baseman of the Japanese aggregation, occupies. He has led the league most of the second half, and after playing in every scheduled game, finished with the grand average of .517. The next man, Dave Desha of the Hawaiis, has .370 to his credit, so it is easy to see that Noda is head and shoulders above the rest of the league hitters in this department of the game.

C. Moriama, another Asahi, stands fourth with .333, while the next member of that team to appear on the list is Kurisaki, eleventh with .269.

In team batting the Asahis stand second, the Stars being on top. It would seem that the individual clouting of the three Asahi players alone mentioned was the principal cause of placing the team so well, and that the reason the Asahis didn't bat in more runs—they scored less than any other team—was that only three or four men could hit the ball at all. The rank and file of the Asahi players are near the bottom of the list.

In club fielding the P. A. C.'s, winners of the series, and the J. A. C.'s, who won the first half after a playoff with the Stars, stand No. 1 and No. 2 respectively. The Portuguese made only 17 errors as against 28 for the Japanese. The Hawaiis were the worst bunglers, with 44 errors in eight games, 5 1/2 to a contest.

There are exactly ten players in this department of the game.

WHALE CARCASSES IN BEHRING SEA A MENACE

Sea Captain Reports Hundreds Found Floating

SEATTLE, Oct. 19.—Captain Louis Knaflich of the tugboat Bender Brothers, which has arrived from Bethel, Alaska, declares that carcasses of whale drift in Behring sea and Akutan harbor are a menace to navigation. Whales were slaughtered by hundreds in Behring sea this year, Captain Knaflich said, and the carcasses were set adrift after the oil had been taken. There were nearly 200 carcasses in Akutan harbor and 100 adrift in Behring sea when the Bender Brothers sailed. They average 100 tons in weight and might sink a small schooner in collision.

The Bender Brothers brought $10,000 in gold and a valuable shipment of furs from the Kuskokwim river district.

PUPILS EARN MONEY
WHILE THEY STUDY

Unique School in Cincinnati Profits by an Innovation That May Be Copied

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26.—Cincinnati boasts of a school where it is possible for the pupils to earn their pin money while going through their studies. This school is known as the School for Retarded Pupils and is for those who have fallen three or four years behind their proper grades, chiefly because of sickness.

Mixed with long and dreary hours of study the pupils in this unique school are given an opportunity of making candlesticks, pincushions and calendars, which they sell. An itemized account is kept of each pupil's work and the amount of time put on it, and they are paid accordingly.

This is the first school of its kind in the world, and the school officials are receiving numerous inquiries regarding it from all parts of the country.

Where it was impossible to induce pupils to attend this school it is now filled.

M'GRAW HAS NO KICK
COMING AGAINST FRED.
SNODGRASS, HE SAYS

NEW YORK.—Persistent reports that the National League New York club would dispense with the services of Fred Snodgrass as a result of his costly error in the last world's series game are set at rest in a statement given out by John McGraw, manager of the defeated club. He says:

"I do not blame Fred Snodgrass in the least for his failure to catch that fly ball in the last game of the world's series in Boston. Snodgrass is a valuable and conscientious player, and he will be a member of the Giants next season. His failure to make the catch is something that would happen but once in a thousand years, and I want to say that he is deserving of sympathy for this failure. It hurts him more keenly than it hurts any one else."

"In this connection I may say that I feel even worse for Mathewson than for Snodgrass, as Matty pitched three excellent games without winning any of them. There never was and never will be another pitcher like Matty."

JOE TINKER
MAY MANAGE
CINC'Y REDS

CHICAGO.—Shortstop Joe Tinker of the Chicago National League baseball team, and Garry Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati team of the same league, agreed upon terms under which Tinker will manage the Ohio club next season if he can obtain his release from Chicago. It was announced recently.

Both Tinker and Herrmann confirmed the announcement, and expressed hope that President Murphy of the Chicago club would release the shortstop. No details of the agreement were given out.

President Murphy gave no indication of what course he would follow. He leaves tonight for Philadelphia for discussion with President Fogel of the club there regarding possible trades he said.

Tinker has had considerable experience, having "understood" Manager Chance the past season while the latter was in a New York hospital. Henry O'Day, the former National League umpire, managed the Cincinnati club this year, having succeeded Clark Griffith. The team made a great showing early in the season, but fell down later. President Herrmann made no statement regarding O'Day's future.

Tinker announced that he will not play again with the Chicago Nationals. "I can't play the same kind of ball under Evers that I did under Chance," said Tinker. "I will never put on a Cub uniform again."

Tinker and Herrmann had a long conference. The Chicago shortstop said Herrmann was prepared to trade several players for him. "He will give an infielder and two outfielders for me," said Tinker. "No pitchers are to be included in the deal. I told Herrmann that I did not want the Cincinnati Club weakened. After our talk he decided that he would give Grant for me, or that I would have two of the following outfielders, Mitchell, Kinsner, Estes or Kyle."

"Evers says he will not consent to a trade unless he can get Mike Doolan of Philadelphia for a shortstop. That is unjust to me. There are Cincinnati players available that would make a good Cub infield. I was offered the management of the Cub team two years ago by Murphy, but I declined it. He said he wanted me to take charge if anything ever happened to Chance."

ENGLAND'S LARGEST GRAPE
VINE IS 150 YEARS OLD

LONDON, Sept. 27.—A large number of Americans have visited Cumberland lodge this season to see the great grape vine, which is one of the largest and most celebrated in the kingdom, being even larger and finer than the far-famed tree at Hampton Court. The tree yields between 500 and 600 bunches of grapes averaging from four to five pounds each, and some even turn the scale at six pounds. The vine is 120 feet in length and 20 feet wide, and covers a roof area of over 2,400 feet. It is nearly 150 years old, and is still reckoned one of the best in Europe. At one time it yielded as many as 200 bunches of grapes in a single season, but the quality was not nearly so good as since the number has been more limited. The grapes are of the black Hamburg variety, and they are sent for the use of his majesty as required. The fruit is said to be of better quality than is produced in any of the vineyards in the royal gardens. Sometimes bunches are forwarded to the various hospitals by order of the king.

In connection with this story it may be added that the monster grape vine at Santa Barbara, Cal., covers three acres of ground and yields ten tons of grapes every year.

Must of us get what we deserve, but fail to recognize it.

FIGHTERS ROUNDING OFF
FOR SATURDAY'S CONTEST

Bauersock Looks Better Than Ever Before During His Fighting Career in Honolulu. Is Getting Down to Weight Without Trouble

"I've seen Bauersock train for every fight that he's had in Honolulu and I never saw him as good as he is right now. Why? I believe he's rather put Eddie Madison to sleep than win the middle-weight championship."

That's the size-up of Bauersock given by a prominent sporting man at Leilua, and from all accounts it isn't far from the mark. The scrappy sergeant of the Fifth Cavalry is so keen for another chance at Madison, that he is going through the training period with more care and sincerity than ever before, working both with the gloves and on the road, and doing his best to put himself in first class shape for next Saturday night's mill.

Bauersock isn't worrying much about the weight. He has to make 150 pounds ringside, which isn't easy, but the scales now show that he is well within striking distance of the required poundage, and some vigorous work at the end will put him under. He is boxing at Schofield with King and Trisegel, both of whom will figure in the preliminaries, and looks faster than he does, both on his feet and with the gloves. He seems able to get his hands away faster, and his blows travel with considerable more precision than formerly. Altogether, Bauersock looks better as a fighter than he has for some time past.

Eddie Madison is working at Fort Shafter, and is hard and fit. Right now he could go into the ring and give a good account of himself, probably weighing three or four pounds under the required weight. Pounds have no terrors for Eddie in the coming mill. He is working with Selman, the sailor who will figure in the semi-final.

Seats for the fight are on sale at Gunst's cigar store, and already they are being snapped up. The Bijou theatre will be so lighted and ventilated that every spectator will be able to see the breathe clearly.

Ed Walsh As Good As Ever In Spite Of Strenuous Campaign

"Ed Walsh is the most valuable pitcher to his club of any hurler in baseball. Considering his continuous service and his record for 1912, he stands out as one of the marvels of the game."

This tribute is from Umpire Dineen, at one time considered among the greatest pitchers in the game and the player who won a world's series for Boston in 1903.

Dineen is in a position to judge of the relative merits of players in the American league. He is behind the plate as an arbitrator and can form a conservative opinion. His stellar career as a pitcher gives more weight to his opinion.

"I have watched Walsh closely for several years, and it is nothing less than wonderful the way he continues to pitch effective ball. When Walsh was worked so much by Fielder Jones in 1903 many said that would be about all for big Ed. They thought he had shot his bolt. It didn't seem any human being could stand all that work and retain his effectiveness. Walsh has worked nearly four seasons since 1903, when he appeared in so many games. He has continued to pitch nearly six seasons since he won a world's championship for the White Sox, but he seems to be about as strong today as seven years ago."

"I attribute Walsh's great stamina and wonderful record to the splendid care he takes of himself. Other players with similar talents have been addicted to drink or have had some failing which has sapped their vitality and shortened their careers. Walsh takes good care of himself. He doesn't drink intoxicants, chew tobacco or chase around. He is not a habitue of the Great White Way."

"When I watched Walsh fan Hal Chase in a pinch as he did Frank Baker at Philadelphia I couldn't help admire the big fellow for conserving his talents. There couldn't be a greater test of a player's gameness than facing Frank Baker with the bases loaded, none out and a run needed to tie the score. That was what Walsh faced, and he conquered Baker in the mumbled same manner as he humbled Chase and Speaker in similar tight places. It is evidence to me that Walsh is about as effective today as he ever was."

Walsh has a record this season that outshines that of Walter Johnson in spite of the fact that the "big mouse" has worked much harder and longer than the wonderful speed dispenser of the Washington Senators. Walsh has appeared in more games for the White Sox than Johnson. He has pitched against the Philadelphia Athletics, the heaviest sluggers in the circuit, many more times than has Johnson.

Johnson is a sensational exponent of speed in a pitcher, and in this respect is a rival of Amos Rusie. Johnson and Rusie are on par in this respect, but neither possessed the varied talents of Walsh. Johnson makes use of his speed almost exclusively to baffie the batter. Walsh has the speed and a varied assortment of other balls. He is the greatest spitball pitcher who ever drew breath, says Frank Schulte of the Chicago Cubs, who met Walsh in the Chicago city series.

CHINESE MAKING READY FOR GAME

Will Face Soldier Team from Schofield Barracks Next Saturday and a Crack-a-Jack Contest Should Result

Baseball is once more the principal topic of conversation, now that politics, both national and local, is over. Politicians will not have to do any more strenuous campaigning, and as a relaxation, some of them will for the first time since the return of the Chinese baseball team from the States, turn out to see Trainer Sam Hoy's boys in their game against the pick of Schofield Barracks. Arrangements are all concluded for Saturday's game, and at the present time, the soldiers rule slightly favorites, in spite of the fact that the Chinese team has won both of the games played, here since their return.

Without doubt, Captain Akana has a bunch of fast men full of pep and youth. Five of the star players of the Chinese team are not yet old enough to cast their ballots in the election two days ago—Catcher Kan Yen, Pitcher Luck Yee, Third Baseman Lai Tung, "26" Ahl, and Right Fielder Sing Hing Ho. This interesting bit of statistics was discovered by a runner employed by one of the political parties on election day, but this does not mean that the Orientals will not be able to give Uncle Sam's men a good, hard contest.

The Chinese outfielder, "Chief" Akana, En Sue, and Sing Ho, are a trio that covers a large area of territory, besides being batters of the most dangerous kind. Last Saturday in the game against the J. A. C. champions, the trio knocked out five hits out of the total of seven for the whole team—all of which did damage. They have in both of their games fielded perfectly, some of the catches were of the kind that brought the frenzied fans to their feet.

Not only are the soldiers of Schofield Barracks figuring on springing

JIM FLYNN MEETS
LUTHER MCCARTHY

LOS ANGELES, October 28.—Promoter Tom McCarty of the Pacific Athletic Club received a telegram this afternoon from his Chicago representative stating that his terms offered for a Jim Flynn-Luther McCarty contest for the Vernon arena on December 10 have been accepted and the agreement signed by both parties.

This will be the first bout in what McCarty intends to be an elimination tournament to produce a new white heavyweight champion of the world.

The exact terms under which Flynn and McCarty have agreed to box are not made public.

PAPKE IN DUTCH WITH PARIS
FANS

After Billy Papke defeated George Carpenter in Paris the sports of this country expected that the middle-weight who used to be known as the Illinois Thunderbolt would be in demand among the French promoters and that probably Eddie McGoorty would be sent for to give Papke battle.

The cable brings the news that the matchmakers of Paris have no desire to handle Papke again and that in all probability Frank Klaus and McGoorty will be signed for a go in the French capital.

There are several versions in regard to Papke's unpopularity. One is that the French promoters have decided to recognize the New York Commission's disbandment of the Thunderbolt and keep him out of the ring until the ban is removed in New York. When requested to take such action at the time Papke refused to box Frank Mantel in New York, promoters across the pond saw themselves from doing so, and therefore that the Papke-Carpenter match had been extensively advertised and that to forbid it at that late hour would entail loss upon the promoters.

If the news that the French matchmakers have embraced an early opportunity of disciplining Papke is true it means that the men of the ring will have to be careful how they offend the pugilistic authorities on this side of the water.

Another story is to the effect that the disinclination to have anything further to do with Papke is due to the fact that he smashed the Parisian fool, George Carpenter, and that the matchmakers felt it would be an unpopular move to put Papke in the ring again. In all probability this version is unreliable. The French have shown themselves to be imbued with sportsmanlike feeling and would scarcely prove as small-minded as this story infers.

Still another report is that Papke's style of fighting did not suit the fans over there. It is said that Bill is regarded as a rough-house performer and that the French patrons of boxing do not think he is the kind of risk work man that should be encouraged.

It will be seen there are several versions to choose from, but the fact remains that Papke is not wanted in Paris. His match with Carpenter drew $24,000, so that if McGoorty and Klaus accept the invitation to box in Paris they are sure to receive big money for their services.

However, with the several hundred soldiers rooting hard for their favorites in their game against the Chinese, there ought to be plenty of noise. The game will be called at 3:30, although the band boys will start their selections at three.

'BRAINIEST' WOMAN
QUITS BUSINESS TO ENTER A CONVENT

HARRISON, N. J., Oct. 15.—In the big local offices of the General Electric Company here today, Miss Mary Stevens, successful business woman, frequently characterized as the brainiest woman in New Jersey, explained why she is giving up probably the biggest salary paid a woman worker in the state to devote the remainder of her life to church work and charity.

Miss Stevens is supervisor of the General Electric Company, and the "right-hand man" of the general manager. But she is giving all this up to enter the Convent of the Sisters of Charity at Madison, where she can toil for the benefit of the poor and afflicted.

Recently she has been touched with the terrible suffering among the poor, which she says constantly is on the increase. For years she has devoted her surplus earnings to aiding the poor and distressed, and the call for her entire efforts became irresistible.

SCHOOL FOR BOYS
BEATEN BY THE HIGH II.

Game Characterized by Reversion to Old Style of Football Which Brought Forth Numerous Warnings from the Officials—Score 13 to 0.

On Alexander Field yesterday afternoon the Honolulu School for Boys eleven met defeat at the hands of the McKinley High second team by a score of 13-0. This makes the second time that the Honolulu School has been defeated this season, and from the outlook, it appears that the only chance they will have to win will be to play with either the Pun or the Town third team.
